THE EDGEWORTH DAVID MEDAL 2009

The Edgeworth David Medal, established in memory of Professor Sir Tannatt William Edgeworth David, FRS, a past President of the Society, is awarded for distinguished contributions by a young scientist.

The conditions of the Award of the Medal are:

- (a) The recipient must be under the age of thirty-five years at 1st January, 2009
- (b) The Award will be for work done mainly in Australia or its Territories; or, contributing to the advancement of Australian science.

Nominations are called for the names of suitable persons who have contributed significantly to science, including scientific aspects of agriculture, engineering, dentistry, medicine and veterinary science.

The Council of The Royal Society of New South Wales requests that every nomination be accompanied by a list of publications, a full curriculum vitae and also, by a statement clearly indicating which part of the nominee's work was done in Australia and which was done overseas.

Agreement of the nominee to his/her nomination must be obtained by the nominator before submission of the nomination and included in the submission.

Council has decided that in cases where it is unable to distinguish between two persons of equal merit, preference will be given to a Member of the Society.

Nominations and supporting material should be submitted to The Royal Society of New South Wales not later than 30th September 2009.

One (1) hard copy of the nomination and supporting material should be mailed to the address below. Additionally, to facilitate distribution amongst the judging panel, an electronic copy of the nomination and key supporting material should be emailed to the email address below.

No responsibility regarding publications sent in support of nominations can be accepted by the Society, but every care will be taken to return them to the nominators.

The winner will be announced and the Medal presented at the Annual Dinner of the Royal Society scheduled to be held in March 2010. The winner will be notified at least two weeks beforehand.
